Programming Notes – Digital Edition

November 2022

'Tis the season to give thanks. We are so very thankful for your continued partnership, and your audience will be thankful for the chance to binge season 3 of Miss Scarlet and The Duke! As we've noted during our programming calls, Miss Scarlet and The Duke will be available on Passport beginning on Thanksgiving! Giving Tuesday is November 29th, and it's another opportunity to remind your viewers of the impact of their support, which helps you provide programs that engage and enlighten viewers on-air, online, and in the community. PBS also announced a cornucopia of new Direct to Passport titles that will be available in the coming months. We have included release details and hyperlinks for your convenience. Enjoy!

As always, please feel free to copy and paste elements from this newsletter for your local Passport and Digital newsletters. We also hope you will pass this information on to members of your staff who may find it useful!

Plan Ahead for February

February is Black History Month and while we celebrate Black life throughout the year, this month is of particular importance for underwriters and others who want to create partnerships with your station. We are looking forward to February 2023 because there are a few key Black History Month programs to get excited about including Fight the Power: How Hip Hop Changed the World. The series will premiere on broadcast and be available to stream January 31st. This 4-part series will explore the origins of this art form through the voices that were at the beginning of this cultural phenomenon. Developed by Rock and Roll Hall of Famer and front man for Public Enemy, Chuck D, the series will feature rap legends such as Ice-T, Fat Joe, Run DMC, MC Lyte, will.i.am, Lupe Fiasco and more.

Here is a curated streaming list of more Black History Month programs for your promotional and community engagement efforts! New roll-outs are labeled with an *.
